Galatians

I would like to thank Larry Polk for doing such a good job leading our education plan for the month of October. I especially say this because I know this ended up being one of the worst months possible for him because of an unusually heavy load at work. We made these plans back in the spring so he had no way of knowing. I have heard so many good comments from all of the classes. I loved every minute with the teens. I just love the fact that I can teach their class and I don't have to water it down at all. I could tell they were listening and wrestling with the implications of the names of God and I was impressed. My favorite thing was to listen to them all pray at the end of class each week. I can't wait for the next time I get to teach a younger class.

We are moving on to the book of Galatians now. We will learn from this book for the four Sundays in November. Rick and I will be teaching the adult class. We have recruited some experienced teachers and some brand new ones. I think this is one of the strengths of this new format. I am especially excited for the fourth and fifth graders to have Travis Jex and Tracy Williams to teach their class. I have talked to them about the material and they are excited to go. Besides our normal classes there are several other classes going on so you can look on our education board above the welcome center to find all the information you will need about where everyone is supposed to be.

Jeff Larsen is busy recruiting teachers for December/January so let him know who you would like to teach. The subject is the kingdom of God.

I did want to express my thanks again to everyone for making me feel loved while I was away and my Grandfather's funeral. Everything went very well and I appreciated the texts, emails, phone calls, and cards.

Youth News

I am so excited about our girls retreat this weekend in North Carolina! So far we have 13 girls and 4 chaperons that will be going. We plan to enjoy our weekend spending time together, relaxing, and studying God's word. I am hoping this will be a perfect opportunity for the high school and middle school girls to really get to know each other and begin to build relationships with one another. I am also counting on God to be with us while we are there, speaking to us all, inspiring us to live a life of "purity" in every sense of the word, in mind, in body, and in spirit. I would love it if you all would be in prayer for me and the other ladies that will be helping me lead the discussions and prayer times with these amazing girls. And don't worry guys! Jeff Guill is working on a separate retreat for you all coming up in December. So be watching for more information on that very soon!

This Sunday morning we will begin another new class, a study on grace out of the book of Galatians. Wayne Burress will be teaching the high school class, and I am looking forward to being with the middle school class again for four more weeks. Since, however, I will be with the girls at the retreat this weekend, Corey will be filling in for me. I'm sure he will do a great job and have good fun with the guys while I'm away. I had hoped that I would be handing out a November calendar this Sunday, but unfortunately I have not had a chance to finish it, so please bare with me for a few days until I can get better organized. We have a lot going on during these next couple of months, so I want to make sure we get it all together and give you the right information.

Have a great week!
