God Uses His People

It was weird last Sunday leaving before our assembly was over. Ryan and I had to leave close to eleven in order to get to see his brother that is in jail in Georgia. We did get to see him and visit with him for thirty minutes. At first I think he was a little uncomfortable with me since he didn't know me but within minutes he warmed up. This was one of the main reasons I wanted to go so that he could have a chance to warm up to me before his trial. I hope to be able to go at least for part of the trial as a show of support for him and his family.

When we were about to leave the jail on Sunday I realized what a good thing we had just done. Chris, who had looked so down just thirty minutes ago, was upbeat and obviously feeling encouraged. I shared with him that we didn't just pray for him once or twice but that there are people that pray for him a lot. You could see it in his face that he was encouraged to know that he had people on his side. So far he hasn't had a lot of people, besides his family, that would say they are for him. I think the reason we are for him is because we know God well enough to know that God is for him. His upcoming trial is set for March 21.

I am thankful to have Rom, Keke, and Jeff Kerby back. I am glad that God used them in another part of the world but I thank God for bringing them back to us. I look forward to hearing from them different things that God did through them and how it has changed them. It is so nice to serve a God that has all sorts of things going on and that he lets us join with him in these things. I pray that God will open doors for all of us to be more involved with him around here. I really wish our Wednesday night applications would take us into more homes where we could be with people that need something. I believe that God will bless us as we wish for these kinds of things. I believe he has worked on our hearts for years now so that we would be suitable for his purposes and so we should expect him to send us those things that fit his purposes.

Have a great week!
Allen L. Close

Missions

The missions ministry is planning fund raisers to raise money for the people who would like to travel to Guyana this year. On Sunday March 27th they are planning a spaghetti lunch (spaghetti, salad, bread and tea). Donations will be accepted. Also if you would be willing to bring a dessert that would be much appreciated. The next fundraiser will be a church yard sale on April 16th. Begin collecting items you would like to donate. A classroom will be available for items to be stored closer to the time of the yard sale. If you have questions talk to Dennis Carter.

Youth News

I have had a busy couple of weeks and feel like I need to use this opportunity to bring you all up to speed. This Sunday is the last class of the teen quarter. Jeff Guill has been teaching about the Power of God and he has done a fantastic job. It has been very clear over the last several weeks that God has been very much involved in bringing Jeff's class, Allen's sermons, and our Wednesday night projects all together so nicely. Even Winterfest tied in so perfectly with everything we've been doing here at church! On Sunday, March 20, Jeff Larsen will pick up the Middle/High School class for about 4 weeks to teach from Colossians 3. I am hoping to finish out the Spring quarter by teaching from the book "Dinner With the Skeptics."

Sunday, March 13 is LAFS at Bellacino's. This is for all middle/high school teens and any parents that would like to have lunch together. If you need a ride, please me know. I would also like to meet with the leadership team this Sunday as well. I am thinking that we should meet right after lunch, about 1pm, at the church. It has been quite awhile since we last met, so we have a lot of things to discuss! If you cannot make it to this meeting, please let me know. As leaders, I really hope that all of you make every effort to participate.
